

Oh No – You’re missing your street tree!

Its tree planting season, and the City of Charles Sturt will come and plant one for free if you ask. ☺

With subdivision making our gardens smaller, we know our street trees are even more important for the health of our communities, our wildlife and our planet. Plus of course, they add value to our homes as more people seek out cooler leafy green suburbs.

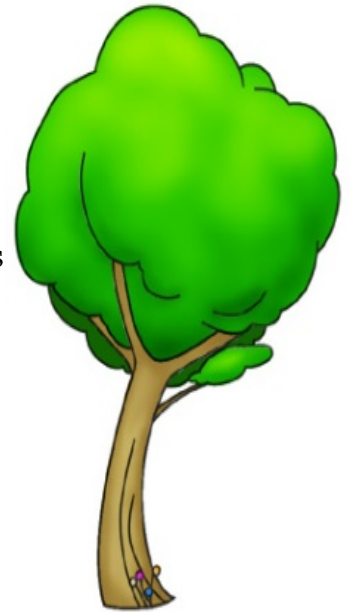

It’s as easy as one phone call or email to the Council, plus just a few minutes every week or two to give it some water for the first few summers. Your local neighbours (and birds 🐦) will thank you!
